One of our students passed the traditional comprehensive examinations in January of 2011, and the remaining ten passed the traditional comprehensive examinations in March of 2011. Three of the students earned a High Pass. This was noted in their records.

Curricular Improvements

As was stated in the previous report, we eliminated the use of text in the powerpoint presentations of the oral reports. The result was more spontaneity and less reading the text on display.

There were no changes from the previous year's rubrics, which seemed to function well.
